U.S. Would Aid
In Ending Holy Land DisputeByrnes Reveals Willingness Of "Jewish Leaders" To Back PartitionFOREIGN MINISTERS
DISCUSSED QUESTIONU. S. Secretary And Bevin
Exchange Letters; Conference Scheduled

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes formally disclosed tonight what he said was the willingness of "Jewish leaders" to support partition of Palestine to sit in on a "free and full" conference to settle the Jewish-Arab dispute over the Holy Land.

Significantly, he declared in a letter to British Foreign Secretary Bevin—bearing the salutation "Dear Ernest"—that the "Jewish leaders" x x x now regard the partition proposal as the most practical long term solution of the problem.

Byrnes carried privately a few days ago with Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, American Zionist leader, before the latter sailed for a World Zionist Conference in Switzerland. There was no definite indication, however, that he was reflecting the views of Wise.

Ministers Discussed Question
Michael McDermott, Byrnes's press attache, making public an exchange of correspondence between the Anglo-American diplomatic chiefs, said that during the New York sessions of the Foreign Ministers Council, they had held several conversations on the Palestine question.

In his statement, Byrnes acknowledged for the first time publicly that the United States had turned down a bid to attend the London conversations recently on the issue.

But, at the same time, Byrnes declared that the United States now "feels that the leaders of the Jews and the Arabs" should attend another conference and added, "if they do, the United States will accept an invitation to have an observer at that conference."

"After investigation," he said, "it is my opinion that a permanent solution of the very serious Palestine problem will be greatly facilitated if there is a free and full conference between the representatives of the British government and the Jewish and Arab leaders."

Conference Scheduled In January
Near the beginning of the present meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, Byrnes told newsmen that he was taking over the problem of Palestine. Previously, President Truman had taken personal responsibility for the issue, urging quick admission of 100,000 European refugees and, privately, advocating a division of Palestine to create a national home for the Jews.

In his statement, Byrnes declared that British Foreign Secretary Bevin had advised him that there was a conference scheduled for London in January to which the leaders of the Jewish people had been invited.

The United States secretary said that a letter from Bevin offered assurance that the meeting would provide a chance for the Jews and Arabs to meet "on terms of equality" and added that he believed that they should take this opportunity to surmount their difficulties.

Frederick Housewife
Killed In Explosion

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Edna G. Mackley, 59, Frederick housewife, was killed today in an explosion at her home.

Firemen found Mrs. Mackley in the kitchen, and said a spark from a pilot light on the stove apparently ignited illuminating gas.

Lavish Spending Of War Days Falls
Off; Dime Tip Is Staging Comeback

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—The dime tip, the practical gift and the quiet evening at home are staging a comeback from coast to coast. Last night's dining in night clubs; widespread buying of luxuries; gifts; weekend jaunts to favorite retreats and numerous other expensive pastimes that had become part and parcel of the rip-roaring war spending days are now exceptions rather than the rule.

Throughout the country men and women are approaching the Christmas season with a far more cautious attitude than they did a year ago. And surveys of trade associations and other groups indicate this is just the beginning.

Less free money, high prices, a feeling of uncertainty and the return of many needed types of goods are explanations offered for the drop-off in luxury spending. The coal strike has had some influence—but the caution had set in before the strike began, most spokesmen agreed.

Rail, Water Freight
Rates To Be Boosted"Ike" Will Take Rest;
First Leave In Decade

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—At the insistence of Army physicians that he take a rest, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will start tomorrow on his first extended leave in more than a decade.

For a month he will be technically a patient at the Pratt General Hospital at Miami, Fla., where he will take treatments for arthritis, a painful inflammation in his left shoulder.

He expects, however, to take advantage of opportunities for golf, fishing and other outdoor activities, aides said today.

Freight Embargo
Hitting Industry;
Prospects DarkNumber Of Unemployed
Exceeds 250,000 Exclusive Of Miners

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6 (AP)—The nation's unemployed rose to over 250,000 exclusive of the 400,000 striking miners today and nowhere could there be found anybody who would forecast anything but the gloomiest of prospects for next week when the effect of the freight embargo really starts hitting American industry.

The railroads, with over 50,000 idle, sent additional thousands home as they slashed freight service to the bone and prepared to cut passenger service on coal-powered trains by as much as 50 per cent by Sunday.

Steel Sidelines 70,000
The steel industry, hard hit from the start of the walkout over two weeks ago, had sidelined nearly 70,000 with the big figures yet to come. Additional thousands already were on part-time basis as the result of the closing of three of its works in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown area—Duquesne, Edgar Thomson and Clairton—and the laying off of 20,000 men Monday with another 10,000 on part time. Sixteen hundred were furloughed today at a Vastberg works of Carnegie-Illinois.

More Schools Close
Hundreds of other industries, with no means of shipping raw materials in or finished products out, either in steel or in other lines, are being hit.

Paul Henkel, president of the Society of Restauranters, said business had dropped at least 20 per cent in the past few months "and every indication points to a further decrease."

Hotel weekend business has declined, said Leonard Hicks, president of the American Hotel Association. And guests staying in hotels for business or pleasure are spending less in bars and dining rooms.

Restaurant, night club and hotel entertainment business was reported down 50 per cent in the East, and theater attendance is off from the peak.

ICC Authorizes Average
Increase Of 17.6 Per Cent Starting Jan. 1;
Offsets Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—A billion dollars a year in rail and water freight-rate increases, starting January 1, 1947, were authorized today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The increases average about 17.6 per cent.

This amount slightly exceeds the boost for the remainder of the country.

The Class One railroads had sought increases which they computed would average 19.6 per cent on all traffic.

In today's decision the commission also made permanent a 10 per cent increase in passenger fares which was originally authorized in 1942.

The passenger increase previously was scheduled to expire six months after the formal end of the war.

Will Offset Wage Boosts
The carriers proposed increased rates with the announced purpose of getting revenue to offset, partially at least, increased wages and costs of materials and supplies.

The rail carriers' original proposal was for a general increase of 25 per cent but with numerous specific exceptions on which smaller increases were proposed.

On June 30 the commission authorized emergency freight rate increases averaging six per cent.

These increases became effective July 1 and will be superseded by the authorizations made today.

Today's announcement said the increases authorized for line-haul services "are on a general basis of 20 per cent for commodities other than those specially treated and 15 per cent for the basic products of agriculture (except fruits and vegetables) and livestock."

System Of Maximum Increases
The announcement added: "However, an elaborate system of maximum increases as to various important commodities such as fruits and vegetables, proposed by the carriers and revised by the commission, limited the maximum increase on iron and steel products for long hauls in the interest of the preservation of competitive relations that a uniform percentage increase would disrupt."

The announcement said that on coal, blocks of flat increases varying with the basic rates, were authorized. The railroads' proposals were immediately approved for products, but no increase was approved in the upper Lake Superior rail rates on iron ore.

The full amount proposed by the carriers—25 per cent—was approved for various special services.

Law Nationalizes
Yugoslav Economy

BELGRADE, Dec. 6 (AP)—Yugoslavia, whose governmental structure closely follows that of the Soviet Union, has placed its economy under strict state management with swift passage of a law nationalizing immediately all private economic enterprises, public utilities and industries.

Marshall Tito gave orders that the bill, passed unanimously yesterday by both houses of the National Assembly, be given top priority. Parliamentary sources said presentation of the measure came as a surprise and that only top men in the Parliament knew it was to be a matter of business on that day.

Federal Council Chairman Vladimir Simic offered the bill with the admonition for swift action from Tito, who is chairman of the Assembly and head of state. The bill was introduced in the morning and passed in the afternoon. All compensation to private owners will be estimated from that date.

The law names 42 branches of the Yugoslav economy to be nationalized. They include all land, sea and air communications and transportation, mining and metallurgy, all industries processing natural products, food and beverages.

Trucking Rates To Rise
Unless ICC Intervenes
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Trucking rate increases ranging from five to 25 per cent in the Middle Atlantic and New England areas will go into effect January 8, 1947, unless the Interstate Commerce Commission intervenes, Middle Atlantic Truckers announced today.

The Middle Atlantic States Motor Carriers Conference said it has filed the new tariffs with the commission. Unless the commission orders hearings, or takes other action, the rates will become effective on the announced dates.

Informal talk mentioned Chicago, Cleveland and Kansas City as possible Midwest locations; San Francisco on the West Coast and Atlantic City, N. J. on the Eastern Seaboard.

Some thought also was given to an early convention perhaps in March or April, instead of the customary June date. This would permit a longer campaign and a start before the hot months of July and August set in.

The only drawback to an earlier date, members said, is that all states may not have selected their delegates in time. State laws may have

Michigan Liquor Curfew

DETROIT, Dec. 6 (AP)—A 10 p. m. curfew was clamped on liquor sales today as Gov. Harry P. Kelly, faced by the mounting crisis of the soft coal shortage, proclaimed a state of emergency in Michigan.

The executive order came as AFL leaders went ahead with plans for a one-day general work stoppage in Detroit in support of the United Mine Workers.

New Curb Put
On Utility Coal
Stocks By SFAAllocation System Set Up;
Dimouf's Exoneration Due
Next Monday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The government slapped a new curb on utility coal stocks today and moved toward a Monday order for an almost nationwide electricity dimout.

The Solid Fuels Administration set up an allocation system under which any utility's excess over a 60-day coal supply shall go, in order, to:

(1) Another public utility with less than 30-day reserves, (2) a railroad with less than a 10-day stock, and (3) other essential users certified by state or local officials, including homeowners.

The government, with the country's comparatively tiny hoard of coal dwindling fast, laid plans to extend the present 21-state dimout to all areas served by utilities which now use coal or are inter-connected with coal-consuming systems.

Power saved by the dimout in areas served by hydro-electric plants will be channeled, where possible, to ease the shortages in coal-burning sections.

Coal Strike Shrink
This word came from Edward Falck, chief of the Office of Emergency Controls in the Civilian Production Administration, who said nothing but a coal strike settlement or a truce would stop the order.

Falck disclosed the plans as:

1. The Solid Fuels Administration reported it had now only 2,244,600 tons of the 3,025,200 tons it seized November 26 for doling out to most vital needs and to domestic consumers with less than 10 days supply.

2. The National Coal Association estimated last week's soft coal production at 2,000,000 tons, as compared to 12,640,000 tons in the last full week before the strike.

3. The agency reported that extension of the coal strike would seriously impair its efficiency, curtail ship production and bring its extensive housing program "to a practical stop." Secretary Forrestal told White House reporters that the situation at the coaling stations overseas is "critical."

4. The Army reported that by "severe, Army-wide economy measures" it can scrape together and provide for public emergency needs a total of 250,000 tons of coal.

No Truck Embargo Seen
This, however, like the relief afforded by piping natural gas to the fuel-short eastern areas, amounts to little in comparison with the loss of 2,000,000 tons of coal normally mined each day.

5. As the general freight embargo against rail shipments, and parcel post limitations took effect, the American Trucking Associations Inc., expressed confidence no embargo is in sight for trucking. John V. Lawrence, managing director, said in a statement:

"I am confident the American trucking industry will be able to handle virtually all natural gas freight offered to it for shipment."

6. The Agriculture Department said the world food situation grew somewhat worse last month and that the coal shutdown threatens it further.

U. N. Council To Consider
Greek Complaint Tuesday

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United Nations announced tonight that the Security Council would meet here at 3 p. m. (EST), Tuesday, to consider the new Greek complaint against Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria and Siam.

The United Nations secretary submitted application for membership.

Premier Constantin Tsaldaris of Greece, arrived in New York yesterday to press the Greek charges that guerrilla warfare inside Greece was supported by her three northern neighbors and that border incidents menaced peace in the Balkans.

Berlin's Population

BERLIN, Dec. 6 (AP)—Berlin's population has dropped 1,329,168 from prewar levels to 3,170,832, the Allied Kommandantur's census figures disclosed today. Sixty per cent is female.

Early Start
GOP Seeks Site
For Convention

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Republicans, thinking of the hotel shortage, set out today a year ahead of usual looking for a site for their 1948 presidential nominating convention.

Informal talk mentioned Chicago, Cleveland and Kansas City as possible Midwest locations; San Francisco on the West Coast and Atlantic City, N. J. on the Eastern Seaboard.

Some thought also was given to an early convention perhaps in March or April, instead of the customary June date. This would permit a longer campaign and a start before the hot months of July and August set in.

Conference Fails
To Bring India's
Leaders TogetherLondon Meeting Ends;
Britain Will Not Force
Constitution

LONDON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee failed tonight in a last-minute effort to bring the Hindus and Moslems together for the opening Monday of the Constituent Assembly to draft India's constitution of independence.

Following termination of inconclusive conferences here, the British government flatly told bickering Indian leaders the British would not submit an Indian charter to Parliament unless all factions joined in writing it.

There was no disputing that a delay in drafting the constitution would prolong Britain's stay in India.

The Moslem league has refused to attend the Constituent Assembly because of differences of opinion with the All-India Congress Party over voting procedure.

The London conferences, called by Attlee in an attempt to resolve the crisis which has been described as tantamount to civil war, ended tonight when the Prime Minister presided over the first round table talks of the rival Indian leaders, who flew to London four days ago for extensive and crucial discussions.

Afterward, the Prime Minister's office said in a 600-word communique reviewing the talks that Great Britain would not force a constitution, written by an assembly in which a large section of the Indian population was not represented upon any unwilling sections of the vast country.

Robert R. Wason Heads
NAM Board Of Directors

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers tonight elected the retiring president, Robert R. Wason, chairman of the board of directors.

Ira Mosher, retiring chairman of the board, was elected chairman of the executive committee.

H. W. Prentiss, Jr., Lancaster, Pa., was elected an honorary vice president for life.

Bunting, president-elect of NAM, announced the appointment of the new directors-at-large including Walter Geist, Milwaukee; E. H. Lane, Altavista, Va.

Regional vice presidents named included S. E. Lauer, York, Pa., and Lothar Teator, Hagerstown, Md.

Two Sentenced To Die
For Holdup-Slaying

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Justice Alexander Holtzoff in District Court today sentenced Reginald J. Wheeler, 26, and Jesse James Patton, 21, both of Washington, to death in the electric chair March 28 for the holdup-murder of Maurice L. Bernstein.

Bernstein was shot to death last June when he stepped into his drugstore while a holdup was in progress. Wheeler and Patton were convicted by a jury last month.

Taking note of a Russian representative's bitter charge that the United States had attempted to influence a decision for San Francisco by lobbying, Austin emphasized that his government had been neutral up to this point. It now was making known its position because of pressure from other members and because the time has come "when we can't postpone a statement of our position," he added.

Gilmore Is Informed
Stalin On Vacation,
Not "Seriously Ill"

MOSCOW, Dec. 6 (AP)—"I am informed that there is no basis for reports published in Turkey that Generalissimo Stalin is seriously ill," Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said today.

"Stalin is taking a vacation just as he took a vacation at this time last year. He returned to Moscow last year on December 17. Presumably he will do approximately the same thing this time."

(Two Turkish newspapers earlier this week reported that Stalin's health had "taken a dangerous course" and that his closest friends "are now near him." No source was given for these statements.)

For U. N. SitePhiladelphia Moved To Forefront Position In Headquarters Battle

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States moved its long silence on choice of a location for United Nations headquarters today with a flat endorsement of the East coast and moved Philadelphia into a forefront position in the battle over a permanent peace capital site.

The American decision, made at top level after President Truman met with his cabinet in Washington, was announced to the 54-nation Headquarters Committee by Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate.

Austin did not specify whether he favored Philadelphia, New York or Boston—the three Eastern Seaboard cities inspected by a special subcommittee—but made it clear that he was against San Francisco, the only West coast site in the running.

The United States position was wrapped up in this terse statement:

"The United States is not for establishing headquarters in the West coast. The United States is for headquarters on the Atlantic coast."

After making his statement, Austin moved that the committee defer voting until its ailing chairman, Dr. Eduardo Zuleta-Angel, of Columbia, was able to return to the chair and added the suggestion that the first ballot should be on West versus East.

Representative's bitter charge that the United States had attempted to influence a decision for San Francisco by lobbying, Austin emphasized that his government had been neutral up to this point. It now was making known its position because of pressure from other members and because the time has come "when we can't postpone a statement of our position," he added.

Big Four Council
Will Begin Talks
On German PactForeign Ministers Agree
To Hold Preliminary Discussions Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers Council agreed tonight to begin preliminary talks on a German peace settlement tomorrow morning.

The purpose of the initial discussions which are to be round up next week to outline a program of work, covering probably seven or eight points, for a commission of Big Four diplomatic experts assigned to lay the groundwork for another council session in Europe early next year.

With all but a few minor technical points finally agreed upon in the European satellite peace treaties, the Big Four also agreed tonight that it would be impossible to sign the treaties here and that the actual signing probably would take place at their next session in Europe.

A committee of deputy foreign ministers informed the council that it would take at least a month to put the treaties in proper formal language. After that, they will be circulated among all the 21 nations which attended the Paris peace conference and those nations are expected to participate in the final signing.

Before agreeing to the German talks, the ministers polished up a usually complete peace pact for the five Axis satellites—Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland—as a preliminary to the German discussions.

Radcliffe To Arrange
Inauguration Of Lane

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6 (AP)—Sen. George L. Radcliffe was named today to arrange the inauguration of Governor-elect W. Preston Lane.

The Senator said Lane requested the inauguration be conducted with a minimum of formality.

Although Lane will succeed Gov. O'Connor January 3 when O'Connor resigns to claim a seat in the United States Senate, the inaugural ceremonies are to be January 8—date of the beginning of the term to which Lane was elected.

Morally Degenerate Woman May Be Made Normal By Brain Operation

DETROIT, Dec. 6 (AP)—A delicate brain operation, which may transform a cigar-smoking, morally degenerate, 28-year-old woman into a useful member of society, was revealed today by staff doctors at Wayne County Hospital in suburban Elmhurst.

The woman, described by doctors as "attractive," has a sordid police record of commercial immorality, theft, mayhem and drug addiction that began when she was less than 10 years old.

She has spent 15 years of her life in penal institutions, according to Dr. Louis S. Lipschutz, clinical director of the hospital. Her name is a closely-guarded secret.

Her case was reported to the Michigan Society of Neurology and Psychiatry with the authorization of Dr. Lipschutz and Dr. T. K. Gruber, superintendent of the hospital.

The woman claimed to have killed two persons, including a former

LITERALLY FOOT RACETruman Confers With Cabinet In Preparation For Sunday Broadcast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Tearing aside all legal red tape, the government rushed the coal case up to the Supreme Court today and asked it to suspend its rules in view of "irreparable injury" being done by the strike.

If it does—in view of the walkout and the growing economic paralysis—it could announce by Monday noon whether it will act. Arguments could be heard next week, and a final decision delivered a week from Monday—if the matter were rushed to the utmost.

The dramatic moves by which the Justice Department snatched at John L. Lewis' appeal and ran with it from the Federal District Court through the Circuit Court of Appeals and up to the highest tribunal in the land in a space of a few hours climaxed a day which brought these other developments:

Truman, Cabinet Confer
1. President Truman conferred for an hour with his Cabinet in preparation for his Sunday broadcast to the people. A Cabinet member reported that there will be no turning back in this fight.

2. Philip Murray, president of the CIO, called for the formation of a united front by the AFL and the railroad brotherhoods with his organization against the ferocious attack now being made upon them.

The drama of the appeal to the Supreme Court, literally a foot race, started shortly before noon when Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, in an unusual action in the interest of speed, permitted the record of the case to be taken physically from his court to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, eliminating the delay that would be required for making copies.

A deputy clerk, Harry Bull, delivered the record to the Circuit Court at 1:35 p. m. (EST). Within two hours the government filed a motion asking now being made upon them.

The drama of the appeal to the Supreme Court, literally a foot race, started shortly before noon when Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, in an unusual action in the interest of speed, permitted the record of the case to be taken physically from his court to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, eliminating the delay that would be required for making copies.

Justice Meet Saturday
The Justice Department was all set with the printed petition for a writ of certiorari, brief and citations which the Supreme Court requires. Thus the Supreme Court justices could consider the writ at their regular Saturday conference tomorrow preparatory to announcing Monday whether they will grant it.

Two Boys Marooned Five Days On Island Rescued

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Dec. 6 (AP)—A steel boat forced its way through ice floes today and rescued two youths marooned five days on an island in the middle of the Susquehanna river.

Galen Reed, 17, and Earl Kreiser, 17, both of nearby Royallton, were brought to the mainland after a six-hour round trip by rescue boats through ice masses which clogged the mile wide river.

"Sure, we're all right," said Reed as he stepped onto the shore where the youths left for a hunting trip Sunday.

Ernst chimed in: "But we're ready for something hot to eat and some cigarets."

Factual Account Of County Affairs, And Its Reception

A report of the proceedings marking the organization of the new board of county commissioners for Allegany county, carried in this newspaper several days ago, was a factual account. That new story also carried brief paragraphs or sentences of identification of those to whom political plums had been tossed, together with comments of observers on those appointments. In this we sought to more fully acquaint the people of Allegany county with those who are to serve them during the next four years, and nothing more.

But it would seem that Commissioner Wilkinson, president of the board, has read into that story an effort on our part to criticize some of his appointments, especially that of Albert S. Paye, to the position of county engineer, with the result that Mr. Wilkinson has come forward with an elaborated account of Mr. Paye's qualifications, apparently to justify the action of the majority of the board.

It should be pointed out that the NEWS had no intentions to, and did not dispute the qualifications of Mr. Paye. They would appear to be such as to make for a most successful career as overseer of construction work on county roads, and it is expected the people of Allegany county will observe, with much interest, his progress and achievements.

The NEWS story referred to the fact, taken from the record, that Mr. Paye had replaced John H. Carscaden, as county engineer, a life-long Republican; that Mr. Paye had been affiliated with the Republican party, in the county, only since 1942, and that he had failed to show expected interest in the party's welfare when he neglected to vote in the Primary election that year. That also was a factual statement.

We agree with Commissioner Wilkinson that a county engineer need not be a politician to be a good engineer, but at the same time we are prompted to observe that being a loyal Party man does not necessarily qualify one as a politician.

The ousting of Mr. Carscaden, as well as other officeholders by the new board of commissioners, came as no surprise, to neither those who were denied reappointment nor the people of the county, and we question the assertion that those dropped from the county payroll were moved to tears of the blues. In fact, all of this was expected, because Commissioner Wilkinson had made the promise to "sweep out the Court House" one of the major pledges of his campaign. Those who opposed him, as well as those who supported him, would have been very much disappointed if such had not been the case. But he has, with the support of Commissioner Lemmert, made good that pledge, and those holding positions under the outgoing commissioners have been replaced with persons, we have no reason to doubt, will make capable officials.

It should be made clear that this editor, in assuming the position he now holds, carried with him to his position no ill feeling toward either Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Lemmert, Mr. Holmes, or any other county official, and he does not now. But that does not conclude that they, as public servants, are immune from criticism, and this is to serve notice that we reserve the right to bring to the attention of the people of this county any action by the commissioners, or by the officials under them, we consider unsound, and not to the best interest of those they have chosen to serve.

It is entirely possible that Commissioner Wilkinson had no thought, in commenting on the NEWS story, to question our intentions, but because of the strained feelings existing within the board of commissioners he might have been prompted to make the wrong interpretation of that news account. Those strained relationships date back over the past four years. During that period Commissioner Holmes was in the position now occupied by Commissioner Wilkinson and Commissioner Lemmert, in that he (Holmes), and Mr. Green, the defeated candidate, united to control most of the proceedings. Mr. Wilkinson then, like Mr. Holmes now, was denied a voice in the distribution of patronage, and Commissioner Wilkinson's proposals over the years were given little, if any consideration, except in rare instances.

During that time the feeling engendered was bitter. It was carried into the recent campaign, and judging by the division of voting at the first session of the new Board, it has not cooled. As a result it might be expected that Commissioner Holmes will receive the same type of treatment, during the next four years, that Commissioner Wilkinson underwent the past four years. Such a situation does not make for good government. It would be to the benefit of the people of Allegany county and certainly to the Commissioners themselves, should they work in closer harmony. Whether that will be possible must be left to the future.

But the eyes of the people of Allegany county are upon you, gentlemen.

Biggest changes in 1947 model automobiles, scheduled to come off the assembly lines in a month—it can now be revealed—will be that they will be equipped with hub caps and spare tires.

Wrong As Usual

Pennsylvania voters, who turned Senator Guffey out of office by a whopping majority a month ago have been given no reason to regret their action by the Senator's latest comment on international affairs. In a farewell statement to his dwindling army of supporters, Senator Guffey complains that the Republicans are crippling the efforts of Secretary of State Byrnes. "His task will become an impossible one," the Senator declares. "If Republican leadership continues to widen the differences" between the United States and Russia.

This comment is as misguided and misleading as most of Senator Guffey's utterances in the past. The fact of the matter is that Secretary Byrnes and Republican leaders have been working together closely and harmoniously.

If Secretary Byrnes' efforts to deal with Russia should be sabotaged, the blame would rest squarely on the shoulders of the pack of Democrats which Guffey runs with. It is the Wallace-Pepper-Guffey gang of pro-Russians which has provided the most vicious critics of Mr. Byrnes.

My Byrnes' task would be impossible indeed if he had to follow a policy laid down by Senator Guffey. Fortunately, neither the Secretary of State nor anyone else is under any obligation to pay attention to the advice of the retiring Senator from Pennsylvania.

KNEE MISHAPS

THE knee is built to withstand considerable abuse, yet injuries occur particularly among participants in strenuous work or competitive sports. The conditioned football, soccer, hockey, and baseball player is more likely to avoid such accidents but on every squad there are a few who have "hinge" trouble. Watching these fellows play, it is difficult to conceive why any come through without casualties.

There are several structures contained in the joint which may be severed or damaged. A simple sprain of the surrounding membrane, for example, is suspected whenever pain develops after a mishap. Shortly thereafter swelling appears. Although this is known as "water on the knee" in many instances the fluid is actually blood.

Immediate bed rest is advised so that the tissues will be spared additional harm. Ice packs are applied for an hour or two to stop hemorrhage and then elastic pressure bandage is draped about the part. After 24 or 48 hours, warm applications are useful and should be continued until puffiness subsides. Now and then the blood is withdrawn through a needle. The sufferer thus can walk about easier than if nature were allowed to pursue her course. The support must be worn at all times until distress disappears.

A torn cartilage is suspected should the knee become "locked" suddenly so that it can't be straightened without producing severe pain. A sensation may arise as though something had given way inside, especially when the leg is over-extended at the knee as well as twisted. Catching the foot in a hole while running also is a possible cause.

As a rule, discomfort is noted immediately and it is practically impossible to bear weight on the limb. A knowledge of the anatomy of the structure is necessary to appreciate what happens. The knee is a double ball-and-socket type of joint which can be moved in only one direction. The upper end is rounded and fits snugly into the lower socket. The cuplike shape of the latter is due to the fact that the sides are built up with cartilage. When some of this gristly tissue tears and bends into the working area of the joint, the effect is comparable to placing a stick or pencil in the hinged portion of a door and trying to close it. It cannot be done, and in the case of the knee, the leg cannot be straightened.

Through manipulation, the lacerated portion can often be put back into place, permitting the resumption of free motion. Bending the knee may now result in a clicking sound indicating a roughened surface. The original injury may also involve other membranes, producing swelling. If the cartilage can be realigned and the member immobilized in place for six or eight weeks, healing ensues. But only half the victims are relieved permanently in these circumstances and, at a later date, operation is demanded.

Other structures in and about the joint can be hurt. These include the ligament on either side, the kneecap, and the bones. Examination is needed to determine the nature of the difficulty and X-rays are often required. Adequate treatment is advised lest complications follow later in life.

SPINAL TEST

F. T. writes: What is the reason for examination of the spinal fluid?

REPLY
Whenever disease or inflammation of the spinal cord or brain is suspected, such as poliomyelitis, meningitis, encephalitis, or tumors, this test is particularly useful. Now and then the procedure is employed with patients who have a positive Wassermann to ascertain if the nerve tissues are involved.

T. B. IMMUNITY

C. F. writes: What does the Mantoux test for tuberculosis mean?

REPLY
A negative result denotes that the body has not suffered from tuberculosis; a positive reaction indicates that the individual has or has had a childhood (primary) infection. The latter is the first attack and should not be confused with the usual adult form. Healing occurs but the test remains positive thereafter.

BANQUET FOR PRESS

The other evening the motion picture industries threw a big banquet for the press. Now for the Associated Press members, Jimmie Durante, Dick Haymes, Jack Benny, and Red Skelton entertained, told some jokes, and in three minutes after I stood up everyone was laughing and having a wonderful time. I know because I looked into the other room and saw them.

But it was really a newspaperman's dinner. Before any of the guests would look at the menu they had to have it ok'd by a proof-reader.

And none of those A. P. fellows would tell the press what they wanted. When they had decided they would scribble it on the back of an envelope, then run outside to a drugstore and phone it in, and when they brought in the flaming pudding instead of eating it the guests started covering it.

But the finish of the dinner was pretty daring. The ladies all went into another room and the men gathered around the table while the waiters carried out a huge ten-foot pie. Then they cut the pie and Eric Johnston stepped out.

The movie people at the party were really dressed. Greer Garson was wearing sable. The girl I brought was wearing mink that dragged the ground. At least she said it was mink, but as we crossed the parking lot a gopher came up and pulled it off her feet singing "The things we did last summer."

THE RABBIT COULD WAIT TILL LATER

Conviction Of Lewis Is Final Phase Of One Era

By MARK SULLIVAN

It is dramatic to say, but also true, that the conviction of Mr. John L. Lewis marks the end of an era. "Marks the end" is the correct phrase; for it is not the Lewis conviction, as such, that actually ends the era. The era is ended even if the Lewis conviction should be reversed by the Supreme Court. To the same effect, confirmation by the Supreme Court will not of itself be the ending of the era. Conviction of one man in one case does not cure the condition that grew up during the former era, but only symbolizes the fact that the era is over. Cure of the condition, and the laying out of the pattern of what is to succeed, will be the work of Congress, beginning next January.

What the ending era was, and how it began and grew, lends itself to brief statement, necessarily incomplete but simple in its broad outlines.

Preceding 1935, labor was at a disadvantage in bargaining with management. To give labor equality of bargaining power, Congress in that year passed the Wagner National Labor Relations Act. This legalized the right of labor to organize unions of its own choosing, required management to bargain with such unions, and forbade certain policies and actions of management as "unfair labor practices."

The Wagner Act might have worked satisfactorily. A majority of both parties in Congress believed it would and voted for it. For several years this belief continued. As late as 1944 the Republican candidate for President, Governor Dewey, still thought the Wagner Act could be made to work satisfactorily, but only as Mr. Dewey specified it as "mislabeled in a different 'climate'."

The "climate" in which the Wagner Act was administered was the atmosphere of the Roosevelt Administration then in power. In the spirit of that regime things were done under authority of the Wagner Act which had not been contemplated by Congress when it wrote the Act. The power of labor unions and leaders was greatly increased, the power of management reduced to a point where it could hardly function.

When the condition became so serious as to raise doubt whether, under the Wagner Act as administered, private ownership of industry could function successfully, proposals to amend the Act were made. To some of these, some labor leaders assented; several of them had come to see that the condition was impossible. But proposals to amend the Wagner Act or otherwise limit the power labor unions and leaders were exercising, were frustrated by President Roosevelt. A commentator generally sympathetic to the Roosevelt Administration, Mr. Ernest Lindley, said in 1941, "It is a truism of the Administration that only the resistance of the Administration has blocked legislation curbing the right to strike."

Condition Became Glaring
The condition became glaring during the year following the end of the war. A partial list of what took place within that year would include: paralysis of the country's industrial mechanism by a railroad strike; another paralysis by a coal strike; the one Mr. Lewis conducted in last spring; another paralysis by a steel strike; paralysis of a great city, Pittsburgh, by a utility strike; many strikes of a kind previously looked upon as unthinkable, strikes by employees of city governments which interrupted governmental functions; shopping strikes; strikes which interrupted semi-public services; delivery of milk, of bread, publication and delivery of newspapers.

The sum of the condition was that labor unions and leaders were more powerful than government. The simple proof of that stock statement

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

James Cox Proposes TVA For Coal; How We Sent A-Bombs To England; John L. Lewis Moves To Fox-Hunting Virginia For Coal Talks

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. — Most important proposal for long-term settlement of the coal crisis has come from elder statesman James M. Cox, former Governor of Ohio and candidate for President against Warren Harding in 1920.

Cox urges an impartial body similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority to regulate the coal industry. Pointing out that the miners got the little end of the stick for many years, and the public is getting it today, he proposes that it is now time to make sure that all sides get a square deal; and that the way to do it is by regulation of the coal industry.

The more you study the coal chaos, the more plausible Cox's proposal appears to be. In the Pennsylvania anthracite regions, for instance, mine operators have dug under towns to such extent that cave-ins have swallowed streets and houses.

Another problem is the removal of wooden mine props and coal mine pillars. The removal of wooden pillars causes cave-ins after a mine is abandoned; the retention of coal pillars leaves valuable coal underground never to be utilized by man. Once a mine is abandoned, it is difficult, sometimes impossible, ever to bring to the surface the coal left therein.

Another problem is conflicting seams. Near Morgantown, W. Va., for instance, three seams run in close juxtaposition — the Wayneburg, which is near the surface, the Sewickley seam, 350 feet below, and the Pittsburgh seam, another 90 feet below that. If the Pittsburgh seam is mined ahead of the Sewickley seam, the latter is likely to work too far down and cave into the shafts of the Pittsburgh seam. And all these seams are mined by different conflicting owners.

While the mine operators have fought against Government regulation of the coal mines, John L. Lewis also has been just as vehement against it—except in certain cases where he benefited. He has favored Federal mine inspection, and in the early days of the New Deal he fathered the Guffey Coal Act which permitted coal operators to conspire to fix prices with the blessing of the Government.

However, when Frank Hayes was president of the United Mine Workers back in the Wilson Administration, he urged Government regulation similar to that now proposed by ex-Governor Cox. When Lewis succeeded Hayes, though, one of the first things he did was to come out against Government regulation.

If Lewis had stuck by previous UMW policy for Government regulation of the whole history of mine workers' wages and welfare might have been different.

A-Bombs to England
Several weeks ago this columnist reported that the United States had given the basic portions of the atomic bomb to England. The story was immediately and vigorously denied.

However, as so often happens with diplomatic denials, telltale hints of the truth later leak out; and this week in New York, Senator Tom Connally made a speech in which he dropped a most significant disclosure. For some strange reason what he said was buried on the inside pages of the New York Times.

ment is that no American government would inflict upon the people the deprivations of services and necessities and conveniences which were inflicted by Mr. Lewis and other labor leaders and unions. That was the final phase of the era that is now ended. What brought the end was protest by the people expressed in the election last November. The election was the basic landmark, and the Administration's resistance to Mr. Lewis symbolizes it.

CIO And AFL Blundered And Hurt Cause By Denunciation Of Judge

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Both the CIO and the AFL in their public statements commenting on Justice Goldsborough's decision are misleading their followers. The labor chiefs are trying to convey the impression that the injunction which John L. Lewis violated was not properly issued under the Norris-LaGuardia law. Actually, the law was imposed for contempt in violating a temporary restraining order issued by the court before there could be a determination on whether or not the Norris-LaGuardia act did or did not apply.

What Lewis violated was an order of the court issued but to maintain the status quo and not abrogate his contract with the government. Although Lewis claimed he had the right to terminate the contract, this issue was to be determined by a court hearing. Before there could be such a hearing, Lewis failed to restore the status quo existing prior to his public statement that the contract was terminated.

It is against the judicial authority of the government of the United States that Lewis is in contempt. He has flouted the courts, and this is punishable by a fine commensurate with the damage done by failing to obey. The fine of $3,500,000 is but a pittance compared to the injury done American industry and the people generally by the coal strike which Lewis had it in his power to cancel.

Believe Selves Above Law
The outburst by the AFL and CIO against Justice Goldsborough's decision means apparently that union labor does not consider any court can restrain even temporarily any labor union and that labor unions are above the law. When some miners say they will not dig coal now because of the injunction or when some of their leaders say that a "psychological" situation has been created which is adverse to resumption of coal mining, the public must understand that it is a bit of childish temper and not a well-considered view. For when American citizens say they will defy a court and will not obey its orders, even when issued temporarily in order to afford time to have a full hearing on all legal issues, they are in effect showing a profound disrespect for the American system of law and are advocating anarchy and revolution.

The AFL and CIO have historically been opposed to the use of injunctions. The Norris-LaGuardia act exempts labor disputes from injunctions and this in turn has led to mass picketing and violence to such an extent that amendments to the Norris-LaGuardia law are sure to be passed at the next session of congress. The AFL and CIO, by their attitude in the coal mine case, have helped to create a sentiment for revision of the statute.

The real question—whether the Norris-LaGuardia Act does or does not apply to the government itself when it is involved in a labor dispute—is one on which well informed lawyers differ. The government is really not a party to a labor quarrel when it seizes a property and acts as a trustee for both miners and operators until they can agree on terms of a contract. The power of the government to seize mines and see that they continue to operate was bestowed on it by temporary restraining orders in what is known as the Smith-Connally Act. To say that the Norris-LaGuardia Act—a previously adopted law—limits a subsequent congress which provides a wartime remedy for labor disputes, is to say that the sovereign power of government is limited for all times by the narrow terms of a previous statute.

No Reason To Distort Opinion
But even though the issue is open to differences of opinion and it is one that the Supreme Court of the United States will soon have to decide, this is no excuse for either the AFL or the CIO to distort and misrepresent the opinion rendered by Justice Goldsborough, who made it crystal clear that he was punishing the miners' union and Lewis for violating a temporary restraining order. This order was issued by the Court under the broad powers of the judiciary which enable courts to keep things as they are between disputants until issues can be determined in an orderly way.

The controversy which meets next January will not be intimidated by the prattle about liberties being taken away by injunctions. The "liberty" visualized by labor union leaders today is not liberty but license—the right, for instance, to injure people who languish in no-painful tables of light at the operating tables of the right to withhold fuel and power and necessities of life from the public generally. All this is called "liberty" in the name of a constitution which allegedly protects a labor union or a group against the people's interest as a whole. The CIO and AFL have blundered and hurt their cause irreparably by their denunciation of Justice Goldsborough. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Straws in the Wind
BROADWAY
By DANTON WALKER

Want to hand yourself and your friends a Christmas laugh or for Christmas? Spend $3 and get a copy of Jerome Weidman's "Too Early to Tell" (Reynal & Hitchcock, publishers), which heads this column's Preferred List of books for 1946. It is concerned with the goings-on at a mythical estate up the Hudson called Vaudracour, where scoundrels were being groomed by the Bureau of Psychological Warfare to lead our armed forces against the common enemy "wherever he may be found," and is one of the most devastating pieces of satire written in our time. Though the author prefaces his book with the usual precautionary note that all characters and places are purely fictitious, it isn't difficult to recognize its prototypes, in whole or in part, and Vaudracour certainly has its parallel in Marshall Field's fabulous Long Island estate, where OWI students were groomed in propaganda for dissemination abroad but not at home. Weidman has been in the Philippines, and knows his stuff.

tioned Lewis, the chances of winning were getting slimmer and slimmer.

Eaton also went into personalities regarding the coal operators. He indicated that his fellow townsman, I. F. Freiburger, head of the Cleveland Trust Company and trustee for the Holden Estate, which owns some of the big coal mines in the country, was dead opposed to any compromise. He also said that George Humphreys, head of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, was adamant against any surrender.

Eaton especially emphasized the fallacy of the Communist and labor leaders' claim that the steel industry would rather take nothing than a six-month agreement. The cost of closing down and opening the steel mills was too great.

Lewis Yields
Eaton's logic had its effect. Lewis finally relented. He authorized Eaton to tell the operators he would agree to a year's contract and nine hours of pay for an eight-hour day. Lewis insisted he had to get the miners' work done in seven hours.

hours were longer in American mines than any place else in the world.

Eaton agreed to relay this proposal to the operators; also said he would urge Ed Burke, former Senator from Nebraska, and then head of the Southern Coal Producers Association, to make a deal with Lewis.

It was after this secret parley that Eaton persuaded Burke to make his announcement calling for a resumption of direct negotiations. In his eagerness to please Lewis, however, Eaton got Burke out on a limb. Burke didn't wait until he had lined up enough of his coal powerful members of his group not only were opposed to any compromise, but didn't like the fact that Burke gave the miners public encouragement by announcing that he was ready to negotiate.

So Burke resigned—a significant indication of how strongly some of the operators feel about any compromise to John L. Lewis.

Note — While many operators would go along with Lewis on a wage boost, probably would accept 45 hours of pay for 40 hours of work, they chiefly want an 18-month contract. They are bitterly opposed to negotiating about the end of winter again when Lewis can so easily get them over a barrel.

Two People Who Plan Marriage Make
Mountain Out Of A Molehill

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There are many problems in married life to be discussed and settled, and I think you have good judgment, so have decided to tell you the subject which my boy friend and I are discussing.

He has been married once before, and I have also. He and I are talking marriage again and agree on about everything except one. When he was married, his wife always got up first in the morning in the winter and lit the bedroom and bathroom heaters. And when I was married, my husband always was the one who got up first to do the same.

Now we are trying to decide which is right. I think he should, so we have agreed to ask you, Gee, Miss Fairfax, it is awfully hard for a lady to have to get up in a cold room. Right?

R. F. D.

Well, gee, R. F. D., it seems awfully petty for a lady and a gentleman to be spending time arguing about who is going to get up first in the morning. Right? Or don't you think so?

Frankly, I can't believe you're serious in writing such a letter. I think you're just trying to have fun with me.

In case, however, by any remote chance you might actually mean it, I'll say this: If the two of you are going to make a mountain out of such a ridiculous molehill at this point, then I'd certainly advise you not to marry each other. Because if you do, it won't be long before you'll be finding plenty of other things just as trivial to fight about.

Why make any set rule about who gets up first in the morning? Why not let the first person who wakes up do the chore? Or take turns?

And if it's such an important matter to you, why didn't you stick with the husband who did the job your way?

ESCAPE

You didn't sleep well last night? And perhaps you got up and took one of those "harmless" by-the-pill which your nervous friend said would do the trick.

Could be. Those by-the-pill are plenty popular nowadays. But doctors, of course, fight against them like fury. Legislators pass laws against their sale. Magazine articles shriek warnings about their danger. But you can't feel any danger.

You've used them for months, maybe for years now, and they have been swell. They helped you sleep instead of thrashing around all night long. You waked up feeling great. Then why the mighty up-roar?

Here's why. Believe it or not, the doctors and lawyers know their business. Those by-the-pill, commonly called barbitals, won't give you any pain in the body which you could recognize. You won't spin into a flame some day when you grab the kitchen knives. They'll leave no trace that anyone can see. But they'll leave a trace which will lick you in time as surely as cyanide. How come?

Here's how. The by-the-pill won't harm your heart or hurt your brain. But they'll kick big gaping holes in your backbone. Not actual holes, not cavities through the vertebrae and spinal cord. But holes through the mental and spiritual spinal cord which holds you together. For by-the-pill give you an escape from reality. And like all escapes they raise hell with whatever character you possess. It may take them years to work but with every "simple little capsule" you will lose a little portion of your battling reserve, your fighting grit, the stuff that makes you an independent human being, instead of a fear ridden animal. That's why doctors and lawyers are against the by-the-pill. They're not fighting poison... they are fighting demoralization. To them it's as great a horror to see a character rot as it is to see a cancer spread.

That's why all escapes are

Jenkins, Hendley Decline Posts With County

News Reports Confirmed At Meeting Of Board; Vacancies Unfilled

Yesterday's News report that William H. Jenkins, 217 Sartoga street, would decline his appointment as county auditor and that John H. Hendley, of Frostburg, would decline the appointment as Court House custodian, was confirmed at the meeting of the new Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday.

Both Jenkins and Hendley advised the Board that they would not accept the appointments. Action on naming men to fill the posts was deferred by the Board until Tuesday.

Jenkins, a deputy registrar in the register of wills office for the past six years, notified the Board that after application for the post of auditor, he had reconsidered and decided to remain where he is.

Jenkins said yesterday afternoon, "I appreciate the fact that Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr. and William H. Lemmert voted to give me the appointment as auditor, but after considering the matter, I have concluded that changing positions would not be beneficial to me, particularly since I would lose in seniority and retirement benefits which have accrued in the office of register of wills. There is no retirement or pension plan for the auditor position."

Interested In Present Work

"I also believe there is a better future in my present position, and the difference in salary is small. I am interested in the work I have been doing and have gained some experience in testamentary law and other matters of the Orphans' Court during the time I have served under three registers of wills."

"Mr. A. Charles Stewart very kindly held my position here until I reached a decision. He has stated he plans no changes in the office of register of wills and all of us here feel privileged to work with him."

Hendley Changes Mind

Hendley merely notified the commissioners that he had "changed his mind" after applying for the position. He is now finance commissioner of Frostburg and is employed by the Big Savage Refractories Company at Zihlman. Deputy Sheriff William Izat, resigned custodian, is still doing the work at the Court House, in addition to serving as deputy sheriff, until a custodian is named.

Alvin Snyder, a Frostburg miner, is slated to get the custodian post at the Court House, it was reported today, but the appointment will not be announced until next week. There are several other applicants for the job, including William Mantz, 57, of 213 Aviret avenue, who is in local American Legion circles.

Authorize Bridge Work

With Commissioner James Holmes dissenting, the board yesterday authorized repairs to the road leading from the National Highway to Braddock Farms, in the LaVale section, and the rebuilding of a small bridge spanning Braddock Run at that point, near the former Clark distillery.

The motion was made by Commissioner Lemmert, who said the materials for the work are available. Commissioner Wilkinson cited that more than 40 houses are in that area, and residents have been seeking the improvements for several months, citing that school children using the present span are endangered and fire trucks cannot use the bridge.

CUTS ANNIVERSARY CAKE—

Joseph J. Barley, business manager of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, is seen here preparing to cut the cake baked in honor of the tenth anniversary of the Celanese local. Others standing in the picture are (left to right) William Boyd Coleman, president of Local 1874; James A. Dundon, regional TWUA director and first permanent head of the local; Emil Rieve, New York, general TWUA president and chief speaker at the celebration held Thursday night at the Clary Club. Standing to Barley's right is William Pollock, TWUA general secretary-treasurer. Standing behind Barley's shoulder is James Blackwell, TWUA representative. Seated in front of Pollock is Mrs. James A. Dundon and to Coleman's left is Mrs. Coleman.

Commissioner Holmes contended the approach to the bridge from the highway is not wide enough.

A bid of $400 from Albert E. Miller for Lots 22 and 23 in Block 7 of Patterson avenue was accepted by the board. The lots had been bought in for delinquent taxes.

Wilkinson Appointed

Wilkinson, president of the board, was named a member of the Allegany County Welfare Board, replacing Simeon W. Green, defeated in the November 5 election.

The board accepted a bid of $50 from Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Jenkins, of 110 Reynolds street, for 140% acres of land in Election District No. 2. The land had been purchased by the board for delinquent taxes.

Clayton Reckley, of near Picardy, sought information regarding the old Paw Paw Road, and was advised that it was abandoned when the Old Highway was completed. He reported that one land owner in the area is seeking to prevent use of the old road for hauling timber and indicated that court action would be taken.

Mayor J. Milton McIntyre, of Westernport, sent the board a copy of a letter to J. Edward Hibline, of Baltimore, director of the Maryland Emergency Coal Committee, regarding the supply of coal in the community, in connection with the current strike of miners.

Anticipated Stoppage

The mayor said most of the residents had anticipated the stoppage and had stocked up with fuel, and there were no large users of coal in the community. He also said the parochial schools had sufficient coal to last until mid-January and that the public schools had a similar amount. Restrictions in the use of power and light have been placed in effect by the Potomac Edison

Company, due to the strike, the mayor said.

The board agreed to make minor repairs to a road leading to several new homes in the LaVale area, at the request of Mrs. Clara Mullan, of Valley street.

Lewis M. Wilson, former city attorney, who was appointed attorney to the board Tuesday, attended the meeting.

U. S. Should Own Mines, Rieve Says

Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union, yesterday advocated government ownership and operation of the coal industry as a long term solution to the coal strike.

The labor leader, here for the tenth anniversary celebration of Local 1874, TWUA, said he favored government ownership under the pattern followed by the Tennessee Valley Authority which, he said, bargains successfully with AFL workers.

Rieve, in a speech Thursday termed the coal industry a "sick industry" here and in all other parts of the world. He also called for negotiations to begin at once so coal may be mined again.

The docket officer of the Department of Labor assured William Boyd Coleman, Local 1874 president, Thursday night that the union's notice of intentions of taking a strike vote had been received and would be officially confirmed as of today.

A report that the notice was "incomplete" is incorrect, Coleman said, explaining the department was unable to send a conciliator to wage negotiations scheduled here Tuesday and that the misunderstanding arose from that fact.

Amvets Again Air Housing Shortage

Endorse Program Of Local Group To Promote Housing Project

The local housing shortage came up for another airing at the meeting of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets Thursday night, according to Commander William B. Orndorff. The membership decided to continue with efforts to stop what they term "illegal" construction here and endorsed the efforts of a local Citizens-Veterans Housing Group to promote the construction of houses for vets.

Edward Lewis, chairman of the organization's Housing Committee said he had received a letter from the County Commissioners and also one from the National Housing Agency, Washington, D. C., replying to communications asking for cooperation in stopping construction not properly authorized and help in obtaining building materials for veterans who need them and want to build homes. No reply has been received from the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, to a letter asking that building permits be issued only to those persons who have proper federal authorization for construction, Lewis said.

James G. Stevenson, clerk of the County Commissioners wrote, "building permits issued by the county are marked, 'subject to Federal Regulations,' and the office personnel also informs the person taking out the building permit that they should contact E. Price Steiding who is in charge of the housing program for this county."

The Amvets had asked the County Board to issue no permits unless the applicant evidenced approved priority forms, in compliance with the National Housing Agency's instructions.

In a letter received from David L. Krooth, general counsel to the National Housing Agency, the Amvets were advised to take up their complaints of unauthorized construction here with the Civil Production Administration Regional Compliance Office at 1617 Pennsylvania Boulevard, Philadelphia, 3, Pennsylvania.

The letter states that the CPA is engaged in a vigorous nationwide campaign to obtain compliance with the construction order. During the past eight months 78,000 alleged violations have been investigated and stop orders have been issued on 13,000 constructions.

The Amvets had notified the Housing Agency that there were a number of commercial constructions, tourists homes, gas stations, additions to houses, etc., underway here without priority.

At the same time, Amvets said in their letter, veterans with priorities have been refused the right to purchase building supplies for local needs.

Orndorff said the Amvets will write to the Philadelphia office, again presenting their case and their evidence, and will request that an investigator be sent to the Cumberland area.

Plans were discussed at the meeting last night for the organizing of an auxiliary composed of wives, sisters and mothers of Amvets. Orndorff indicated he would name the nine female members of the local post as a committee to make plans for a meeting and for the formation of the ladies auxiliary.

Functions Of NHA Office To Continue

Despite the resignation of William W. Wyatt as federal housing expediter, the local office of the National Housing Agency, which serves the Western Maryland area, will continue to function, according to E. Price Steiding, locality expediter.

All priority controls on the acquisition of materials are still in effect, Steiding said, and federal authorization is still needed for non-housing construction.

"Since the effectiveness of the housing program primarily rests with the local communities, changes in the administration of the Federal housing program have not altered the necessity for continuance of the work of the Mayor's Emergency Housing Committee," Steiding said.

Steiding listed local problems facing the committee as the need for recruitment and training of labor for construction projects and building materials, plants, obtaining land sites and utility installations, and providing necessary community facilities for housing developments.

"The housing emergency will reach its most pressing stage this winter, and veterans are counting on the committee to increase efforts to increase housing facilities," Steiding concluded.

Cumberland To Enter Traffic Safety Contest

Mayor Thomas S. Post and Commissioner William V. Keegan told members of the Western Maryland Safety Council at a meeting in City Hall Thursday night that the city will enter a national traffic safety contest, held each year by the National Safety Council of Chicago, Ill.

The contest is open to all cities in the United States. Traffic accidents and fatalities for the year are reported, and cities are judged on the basis of their population and area.

Awards are presented each October by the National Safety Council, held in Chicago.

Mayor Post and Commissioner Keegan said the city will co-operate with the Western Maryland Safety Council in any way possible in preventing traffic accidents here.

Council members at the meeting were Lynn Walker, M. W. Work, Arthur Bittner, Thomas C. Gulland and Detective Edwin R. Lilla of the Cumberland Police Department.

Mayor Post signed a contest application yesterday. Lilla has been named contest man for the city.

Five deeds were recorded at the Court House Thursday. Prices shown are indicated by the amount of tax stamps affixed to the documents.

Hildegard A. K. Tomsko and Albert T. Tomsko sold to Lloyd H. and Bessie Z. Buchanan, lot on Hill Crest Drive for $1,200.

Katie L. and Edward F. Lible to John R. and Mary E. Holmes, Maryland avenue, $3,100.

Leslie B. and Edith H. Gordon, to Howard L. and Beatrice A. Huff, about 175 acres this county for $1,500.

Dale and Ruth Lichty to James W. and Annie Thorp, lot in Hitchin Addition, Frostburg, $300.

James Lancaster et al. to Glenn and Mary Ann Devine, lot in Potomac Park, $1,600.

Soldiers Produce Plays

It's show time in Japan and Korea; American occupation troops, in addition to seeing USO camp shows and the latest movies, are now producing their own plays and entertainment. They are assisted by civilian actress technicians, who help with the writing and staging and take the parts of female characters.

One large-scale GI production presented in the Ernie Pyle Theater in Tokyo was the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Mikado," hitherto banned in Japan because of its satirization of the emperor.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 — Well I must say the paying customers are not going to be disappointed in Peggy Cummings when they see her in "The Late George Apley." She really is a fine little actress, too. Freddie Kohlmar, who produced "The Late George Apley," has just had another story for the little girl handed him. "Paddy, the next best thing," based on the novel by Gertrude Tate. Remember the famous Irish story about the boy who gets a job as a nurse and fights for his rights?

This, of course, cannot be made until after "Moss Zsa-Zsa Hilton, ex-wife of Conrad Hilton, had a sister. But it seems they have a very beautiful one named Magda Gabor, who arrived in this country from Budapest a year ago. Well, to get to the point, Magda was married today in Virginia to William Rankin, well known Hollywood scenario writer. Rankin

I never knew Eva Gabor and Mrs. Zsa-Zsa Hilton, but it seems they have a very beautiful one named Magda Gabor, who arrived in this country from Budapest a year ago. Well, to get to the point, Magda was married today in Virginia to William Rankin, well known Hollywood scenario writer. Rankin

Stating that it is likely that more responsibility than ever will fall upon Western Maryland communities, and praising the work of the committee, Steiding said it is hoped that efforts will be redoubled to see that homes for veterans are provided.

Comes word from John Considine, Jr. that he is getting ready to return to his production activities. Interesting, I think, is his idea of filming a drama of the big blizzard in this country from Budapest a year ago. Well, to get to the point, Magda was married today in Virginia to William Rankin, well known Hollywood scenario writer. Rankin

The life of Valentino, Eddie Small tells me, is all ready to go. The script is finished, Archie Mayo is set to direct, and he has studio space in the new Studio Center, Hollywood's newest movie plant. "All I need is a Valentino," said Eddie. "I've asked Arthur Murray to send me some of his pupils—a dancer, someone who could play the role. We have already made 50 tests, and we'll probably make fifty more before we get the right boy. I don't want to wait any longer than March, however," said Eddie. So somewhere there is a boy who will be a Valentino, unknown, because Eddie says positively it will be an unknown.

The Academy ruling that a picture must play to an audience seven times in Los Angeles before it can be voted on, sent our producers with Academy prospects scurrying to get theatres. Sam Goldwyn long distanced Rodney Pantages to engage the Four Star Theatre for "The Best Years of Our Lives." Then he decided not to show it there, and in ten minutes David Selznick nabbed it for "Duel in the Sun." Now Sam, who has one of the best pictures of the year, is tearing out his hair trying to get a theatre. "Razor's Edge," of course, will go into the Chinese Theatre and other Fox controlled houses. It has done a phenomenal business in New York. "The Yearling" will go into one of the Fox houses, too, and so will be eligible for voting, and "It's A Wonderful Life" opens at Pantages Christmas Day.

Chatter in Hollywood: Wonderful to hear Norma Talmadge's voice so happy over the telephone. She has been in love with Dr. Carvel James for so long and she said, "I know this is it. We have had plenty of time to consider our life together from all angles. I am sympathetic toward his work, and I only hope he will soon be well enough to resume his medical profession." Not five minutes after I talked with Norma, George Jessel, her ex-husband, telephoned me, "It's all off," said the perennially youthful George, "with Tommy Adams and me. We have been going together for two years, but you can say our romance is cold."

Help me—more "case histories" are cropping up on the Warner lot. Last week, I told you about Eileen Howe who is allergic to "touch" and can't even hold hands with her boy friend. Now along comes a beauty named Penny Edwards who is a lady hypnotist in addition to being served in the army for three years and returned to California at the conclusion of the war. He was formerly married to Eleanor Griffin, who is one of Hollywood's best known and most successful motion picture writers.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Pedro De Cordova is the victim of an automobile accident. Listeners who hear Pedro on the Catholic Hour every Sunday will be sorry to hear that he will be off the air for four weeks. . . . Anita Ellis, Red Skelton's singer, and Nacio Herb Brown, Jr., son of the song writer, glimpsed at the Coconut Grove. . . . Frank Latimore and Adele Mara, the Republic starlet, are an item. . . . Helga Moray, Tay Garnett's ex, is giving a dinner for George Sanders before he leaves for England on Sunday. Helga and Speed Post are a new romance. . . . Atwater Kent's birthday was an all day celebration. Margaret Ettinger gave a luncheon for him at the Beverly Hills club, and Tia and Harry Lachman gave a huge dinner in his honor. Such Chinese food, personally prepared by Tia, Ed (Archie) Gardner and Phil Baker assisted the Hawaiian orchestra and made with the music. I really think Mrs. Phil Baker is one of the prettiest women in town. Wonder why someone doesn't grab her for a movie? Norma Shearer, who sat next to the guest of honor, is so slender these days and she looked stunning all in white. She tells me she and Maffy Arrouge and the children are spending Christmas at Sun Valley. Gracie Allen, George Burns, Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, Jean and Franchot Tone, Judge O'Connor, Anita Stewart, Virginia Valle, Billie Dove and Claire Windsor were among those to whom I talked. There were fully 200 people at the dinner. . . . Louis Hayward made his debut the same night as a host when his restaurant, Chantier, opened. His wife assisted him in receiving the people who dropped in. The Zachary Scotts, Edgar Bergen and his wife, Eleanor Parker and Bert Friedlob, Lila Leeds and Steve Crane and the Sonny Tufts were among the first customers. Pepe, who was with Romanoff's for so long, is the Maître De, and many of his old friends greeted him. . . . Carmen Miranda goes blonde for a dual role in "Copacabana." Sam Coslow wires that he and Monte Proser are as happy as a pair of Turtle Doves. That's all today.

Iodine stains can be removed by washing with hot suds immediately. If non-washable fabric, steam over teakettle.

Big Step Toward Arms Limitation Is Taken By U.N.

Proposal To Speed Draft Convention To Ban Atomic Weapons Adopted

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The United Nations, in the new spirit of harmony, took another long step today toward world disarmament.

By unanimous agreement, the 54-member United Nations Political and Security Subcommittee on Arms Reduction adopted a provision for expediting a draft convention for prohibiting of atomic weapons and all other weapons of mass destruction.

The convention also calls for establishing an adequate system of international control and inspection free from the use of the veto invested in the Security Council.

Russia Agrees On All Points

These developments were made possible by Russia which agreed to all United States and British proposals.

They were interpreted as meaning that a program for world-wide disarmament would soon be drawn up. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed with the British and United States on all points, although there were times during the session when both the British and Americans appeared not to realize he was in full agreement with them.

Molotov began by accepting an American provision for early establishment of international control for atomic energy and "other modern technological discoveries" to ensure their use for peaceful purposes only.

The proposal, put forward as an amendment yesterday by Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), was described by the Russian Foreign Minister as meeting "the wishes of all of us."

It had been feared in some quarters that United States insistence on also establishing controls over the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes would snarl the discussions.

The Russian decision in effect represented an easing of its previous insistence that atomic weapons should be outlawed immediately in contrast to the American view that any such step would be part of a general atomic control plan.

"The Soviet Union is anxious to adopt a clear-cut and simple proposal for outlawing atomic weapons and let the Security Council consider it in detail," Molotov declared.

Russia Is Named In Iran Complaint

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Iran made a reservation complaint to the United Nations Security Council today that Russia had warned her against stationing troops in Azerbaijan Province to police elections beginning there tomorrow.

The Iranian report, asking no immediate council action, said Russia had given "friendly admonition" through the Soviet ambassador at Tehran that such movement of troops "may result in disturbances" within the province and on Russia's frontier.

The Soviet ambassador, the report added, "advised that the government's plans be abandoned."

Iran said the report's purpose "is to keep the Security Council informed of the further consequences of interference previously complained of." Iran's charges last winter and spring of Russian interference in her domestic affairs were kept dormant on the council agenda after the removal of Russian troops from Azerbaijan.

Adm. "Bull" Halsey Is Relieved Of Active Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Fleet Adm. William (Bull) Frederick Halsey, Jr., 64, has been relieved of active participation in naval affairs at his own request, the Navy reported tonight.

Adm. Halsey has received orders to proceed to his home, the service said. This is formal Navy parlance for effecting such a withdrawal from duty.

Commander of the hard-hitting Third Fleet when the Japanese surrendered in August, 1945, Adm. Halsey has been on special duty in the office of Secretary Forrestal.

The action does not constitute Adm. Halsey's retirement, the Navy added, explaining that fleet admirals cannot be placed in a retirement status.

"No Progress" Renorted On Viscose Contract

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 6 (AP)—Officials of the American Viscose Corporation and representatives of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) completed three days of negotiations on a new contract today with "no progress of any kind," a company spokesman reported.

The union was not available for comment. A contract between the company and union workers at seven plants in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia expired November 30. A union spokesman said previously the members could continue work under the expired contract until early next month because negotiations were opened early enough under the contract's wage clause.

Another session will be held Monday, the company spokesman said.

Truman-Bevin Meeting

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will confer with President Truman Sunday in the White House, British sources said tonight.

GI Olympics In Pacific

American soldiers, now doing occupation duty in Japan and Korea, have a widespread sports program that starts at company level and extends right up through regiment and division competition. This winter, they will meet GI's from other "Pacific Areas" in an inter-theater competition of Olympic proportions. Last year, more than 4,000 soldiers participated.

Seven New Md. Lawmakers To Attend Special Session

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 6 (AP)—When the special session of the Maryland General Assembly convenes late this month to appropriate funds for current state expenses, there will be one new senator and six new delegates present.

These members have been appointed by Gov. O'Connor between elections to replace members who have resigned or died.

The session, tentatively set for December 20, is being planned for a single day. If the work is completed in that time, the session will probably cost about $9,000—the expense of the extraordinary meeting in November, 1945.

Most of the expense of the special session is for legislature's mileage, which at the last one-day meeting cost $6,233. Other costs figuring prominently are printing, telephone bills and clerical assistance.

The legislators are paid quarterly and will receive no extra compensation for their attendance.

Among new faces in the legislature will be that of Republican Sen. Joseph E. Joy, of Calvert county, replacing J. Frank Parran, who died.

New delegates will include Charles Schimunek, who replaced Frank J. Hirt in the Baltimore Second Legislative District. He served at the last extraordinary session.

Other delegates who have not served at either of the 1945 meetings include three from Frederick county: James C. Morton, Jr., replacing Albert W. Woodfield; John F. McNulty, succeeding John R. Rickert; and Ralph W. Lowman, succeeding W. Benton Shipley, all Democrats.

Mrs. Lena L. Moore, Democratic delegate of Harford county, will take the seat of her late husband, Leo M. Moore, and Ralph G. Shure, Montgomery county Democrat, will replace James W. Gill, who resigned.

The Secretary of State's office reported today that one vacancy existed in the House—that of James F. Matthews, of Charles county, who died. In the Senate, there are no vacancies to be filled although the Somerset county senator, L. Elwood Dize, was said to be out of touch with state officials.

Describes 775-Foot Fall Down Shaft

GOLDTHORPE, South Yorkshire, England, Dec. 6 (AP)—Falling 775 feet down the shaft of a mine pit is something like "falling out of bed in your sleep," 15-year-old Charles Wilfred Carter said today.

Charles, a pitboy, was found today with a fractured leg, but otherwise very much alive at the top of an elevator cage at the bottom of a 1,554-foot shaft in the Barnborough main colliery near here.

"It was like a dream," Charles said in an interview with a reporter for the London Daily Herald. "The square of light at the top of the shaft grew smaller and smaller."

The miracle of Charles' escape from almost certain death lay in the fact that he caught up with the descending elevator cage about halfway down the shaft after falling clear for about 775 feet, thus accomplishing something like a parachutist's delayed action drop.

"Halfway down the cage would be traveling about 60 miles an hour," a colliery official told the reporter. "The speed of the boy's fall at that point would be roughly the same."

Sykesville, Md., Girl Is Killed By Truck

SYKESVILLE, Md., Dec. 6 (AP)—Struck by a milk truck as she darted from behind a parked automobile, Jacqueline Etta Hobbs, eight, was instantly killed today near her home here.

State Trooper James N. Simmon said the driver of the truck told him he was unable to stop. The girl, who was the daughter of Walter Hobbs, was struck when she came home from school at noon for lunch.

Mine Near Stoystown, Pa., Praised By Inspector

In an inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines, a Federal coal mine inspector commends the 30 officials and workers of the 350-ton-a-day Vulcan No. 1 mine near Stoystown, Somerset County, Pa., for many recent safety improvements made at the property.

Improvements include improved ventilation, examinations for gas and other hazards during each shift and adequate blocking of cars. The mine is operated by the Atlantic Coal and Coke Company.

Tribunal May

Normally, Lewis would have 20 days to oppose the government's request that the Supreme Court take over immediately. But the government asked that this procedure be suspended in view of the emergency and that Lewis be required to act quickly if he opposes the action.

Union attorneys had indicated previously, however, they would welcome a Supreme Court ruling.

While this appeal from the contempt convictions and the restraining order on which they were based went up to the Supreme Court, Lewis' counsel filed in Justice Goldsborough's court "two other appeals. One was notice of an appeal of the temporary injunction issued after the contempt sentences were imposed. The other was a motion to dismiss the government's petition for a declaratory judgment."

A final ruling that the contract with Lewis is good for the duration of government operation of the mines, which the government hopes to get later.

Freight Embargo

Additional schools joined hundreds already closed in Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Utah and Washington.

Others, including the University of Notre Dame, planned extended vacations unless the strike is settled. In several states schools, churches and places of entertainment have been refused special fuel allotments.

Lewis, UMW Stand To Lose If They Win

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Even if John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers win their appeals of contempt of court conviction, they stand to lose $35,100.

The lay requires a one per cent handling charge to be paid to the district court clerk when securities or cash are used for bond.

Thus the "take" from the $3,500,000 in government bonds the union put up to cover its fine of the same amount is $35,100. The cut from the $10,000 cash Lewis posted is $100. The money goes to the government.

CPA Order Restricts Deliveries Of Coke

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration issued an order today sharply restricting deliveries, including intracompany deliveries, of bituminous coke.

The agency limited deliveries of such coke to five categories of users, including manufactured gas utilities, food processing plants, and wholesale and retail coke dealers.

Specifically exempted from the restrictions were deliveries for space heating, domestic hot water, and domestic cooking, which are subject to regulation by the Solid Fuels Administration.

Oakland Strike Termed Illegal

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 6 (AP)—Employers whose workers joined in the two and one half day general strike here which ended yesterday called the strike a breach of contract today and said they would protest to the international headquarters of the AFL unions involved.

As the crippling $14,000,000 walk-out subsided to peaceful picketing of the two stores whose strike set off the stoppage—Kahn's and Hastings—the United Employers, Inc., and the Retail Merchants Association held a "clarification" meeting.

The city police department remained on an emergency alert. Ford M. Tussing, president of United Employers, Inc., said a meeting of the employers labor relations representatives will be held next week to present complaints for forwarding to the union international.

The employers said that since no vote of membership in the unions was held on whether to strike or not, and the international headquarters of the unions had not been properly notified, the walkout was illegal. The work stoppage was called after a meeting of leaders of the union locals.

Roosevelts In Tiffis

LONDON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that Elliott Roosevelt and his wife, Faye Emerson, arrived at Tiflis, capital of the Georgian republic, on Thursday.

Weather In Nearby States

WEST VIRGINIA and WEST-ERN PENNSYLVANIA—Fair and a little warmer today. Tomorrow partly cloudy and continued mild.

Rude Awakening For Chicago Couple

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP)—A Chicago couple attending the International Livestock Exposition walked into the midst of an auction today and bought six prize swine carcasses at what they thought were bargain prices.

But it didn't turn out that way, and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rupnick said they were "terribly upset" when they learned that their purchases totaled $2,022.50 and not $11 as they had intended.

The auction was under way in the meat shop of the international amphitheater when Mr. and Mrs. Rupnick stepped into the midst of the buyers.

"I have a bid of 25 cents for this champion dressed carcass," the auctioneer was saying, "will anybody offer 50 cents?"

Rupnick did and in subsequent sales made other bids ranging up to $5, taking the six prize carcasses when professional buyers refused to go higher.

Later Rupnick learned he had purchased the champion swine carcass of the entire show, weighing 200 pounds for $5 a pound, a total of $1,000. In addition he had bought the reserve champion carcass, weighing 183 pounds, for $2 a pound, two others at $1 and two at 50 cents a pound.

Astounded, they took their problem to the show's general manager, William E. Ogilvie, who said he had heard that such things could happen and would hold another sale.

State Has 30-Day Supply Of Coal, Committee Says

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6 (AP)—Maryland was down to a 30-day supply of coal today—850,000 tons of bituminous and anthracite fuel distributed unevenly throughout the state.

That was the estimate of J. Edward Hibline, Jr., chairman of the Governor's Emergency Coal Committee, appointed 10 days ago to set up a program of conservation made necessary by the United Mine Workers' bituminous walkout.

He said the average daily coal consumption over a year's span in Maryland was about 21,000 tons, or 7,000,000-odd tons annually. Hibline estimated that about 850,000 tons would last about a month in normal December-January weather.

The bulk of coal supplies are concentrated in the Baltimore metropolitan area, he said.

Meanwhile, Gov. O'Connor and his state Coal Conservation Committee, urged all coal users and residents to adopt even more stringent savings, particularly by eliminating unnecessary lights.

O'Connor said that he had made a direct request to Secretary of the Interior Krug and to the Solid Fuels Administrator for authority to appoint a co-ordinator between the Maryland committee and the SPA in Baltimore.

The Governor asked that the co-ordinator be "clothed with sufficient power by the federal government to assure compliance by all affected industries and coal suppliers, with higher living costs."

NLRB Is Requested Not To Hear UMW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Three Pittsburgh coal companies asked the National Labor Relations Board today to deny John L. Lewis' miners union any hearings on supervisors' bargaining rights so long as he maintains that his government contract is void.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company, Butler Consolidated Coal Company, and the Castle Shannon Coal Corporation asked the NLRB to dismiss petitions filed by Lewis' union for the rights to represent an estimated 350 mine supervisors of the three firms.

In the alternative, the three companies asked postponement at least until the coal strike is over of hearings set for December 16 on Lewis' petitions for supervisory worker bargaining rights.

The United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Workers branch of District 50 of Lewis' United Mine Workers Union had asked NLRB to hold elections at these mines to give the union the right to represent their mine supervisors in collective bargaining.

The National Labor Relations Board is a federal agency created by the National Labor Relations Act of 1935.

Preparations Made To Install 148 Parking Meters In Oakland

Cumberland Contractor Is Doing Preliminary Drilling Work

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, Dec. 4.—Work preparatory to the installation of 148 parking meters got underway this week in Oakland with a representative of the Koonz Equipment Company of Pittsburgh coming here to supervise the work. The preliminary work of drilling the holes in the concrete sidewalks is being done by J. B. Muma, Cumberland contractor.

Several permits were granted and other business conducted at the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council. Permits were granted to James P. Treacy to remodel his property, Oak and Second streets; to H. L. Blittinger to remodel his property on North Third street; and to Willard Elliott to build a driveway to the basement of the Craig Motor company building, Green street.

Richard L. Davis, town treasurer, for 11 years, resigned as he could not hold the office with his position as Clerk of the Circuit Court, to which he was recently elected. No successor has been appointed.

The councilmen decided to meet in special session next Wednesday, December 11, at 7:30 p. m. to take final action on a proposed contract with Ira J. Bosley for leasing the golf course and running it next year.

Mayor A. G. Hesen was empowered to purchase a watchman clock and keys, the keys to be placed at various places in town for the night policeman to check at stated intervals. This is to insure regular police inspection.

Earl H. Moats under the GI training bill, conducted by the State Department of Education, is now training for the position of assistant water superintendent. He will reside at the water farm.

Leslie J. Baker was named night policeman as of November 30. It was reported that a well was being dug at the golf course near the Hinebaugh farm, to add to the town's water supply, but that no water had come in as yet. The drill has reached a depth of over 70 feet.

Davis Sworn In As Court Clerk In Garrett County

Judges Huster And Henderson Hear Two Non-Jury Cases At Oakland

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, Dec. 6.—Richard L. Davis, recently elected as clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, was sworn in this week by Chief Judge William A. Huster, to become the first of the newly elected personnel to take over in the county.

Davis has served in the capacity of deputy clerk for eight years, and for the past 11 years has also served as treasurer for the town of Oakland. Previous to accepting a position in the clerk's office he was employed in the Hamill Stationery and Book Store.

Immediately after the new clerk was sworn in, he administered the oath of office to his deputy clerks, Nordeck Shaffer, Lester White, Mrs. Stella Helbig and Miss Susie Beckman.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who took the oath of office in Cumberland last Saturday, began his judicial career by hearing non-jury cases in Oakland.

The judge was welcomed to the bench by members of the Garrett County Bar Association, and each person spoke briefly, both in regard to Judge Henderson, and the retiring clerk of the Circuit court, Albert G. Ross.

Judges Huster and Henderson heard two cases in which protests had been filed against applications for beer licenses made by Myrtle Marie Baluch, of near State Line, and Mrs. Nannie Caton, on the Finzel road. The license was refused in the case of the former, one of the main objections being its location near a church, while the license for Mrs. Caton was approved.

An equity case involving "specific performance" was also heard, Archie Bittinger vs. Lucretia Miller Broadwater and her husband, Nelson E. Broadwater, concerning alleged failure to go through with an agreement to transfer some land. The judges reserved their decision.

A number of other commissions also arrived this week from Gov. O'Connor.

Youths Confess To Robberies
The clearing up of a number of robberies was accomplished by county officers here over the weekend with the arrest of William Lewis and Edward Lewis, brothers, formerly of Fairbairn, Pa., who have freely confessed to at least six offenses. It was announced by George E. Codding, sheriff, and J. S. Teats, deputy sheriff-elect.

Arrests were made Sunday after Tests had received information from Walter Hardesty, at the B. and O. depot. Investigation by the officers led to a trail on a stolen automobile, culminating in the arrest of the pair.

Tests said the pair had confessed to entering Harve's Market, on the Mt. Lake road, about two months ago; breaking into the state liquor store at Terra Alta, W. Va., and taking four bottles of whiskey; breaking into the B. and O. depot at Oakland and rifling packages and taking auto battery, ammunition, clothing and other articles; taking tools and gasoline from the well drilling outfit at the municipal golf course west of town; stealing the gun from the window of the Oakland Hardware and Furniture Company; and stealing an automobile in Uniontown from James Garrow.

Tests said the pair were being held for court on charges of breaking and entering. William Lewis, 17, the older of the two, recently was released from the Maryland Training School for Boys. Both had been residing in recent weeks at the home of an aunt, west of town. Following the arrest, C. Shroat, B. and O. policeman, and Neil C. Frayle, state's attorney, assisted in the investigation.

Both the youths denied any connection with the theft of the kitchen sink and other articles from the municipal golf course clubhouse this summer.

VETERANS' DISABILITY INSURANCE CITED

William A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland contact office of the Veterans Administration, has reminded veterans who have National Service Life Insurance that they now may be insured against total disability.

Total disability income benefits authorized by recent legislation may be added to any plan of NSLI upon application, medical examination, and payment of an extra premium, the contact officer said.

Premium rates for the disability coverage from six cents to 95 cents a month per $1,000 of insurance depending on the insured's age and type of policy.

The disability benefits are at the rate of $5 a month for each $1,000 of insurance and are payable after the veteran has been totally disabled continuously for six months or more. The monthly benefits will continue to be paid as long as the insured remains totally disabled.

However, the disability must begin before the veteran's 60th birthday. One of the principal features of the new disability benefit, the VA official said, is that the face value of the veteran's policy will not be reduced by any disability payments that he might receive.

Service-connected disabilities less than total in degree are not prevented from taking advantage of the new provision, provided they apply for it before January 1, 1950. In these cases, such disabilities are waived if they are the only bar to meeting the health requirements.

Veterans who wish to obtain full information regarding the new disability income feature should visit the Cumberland contact office, Room 10, 111 Union street.

Parcel Post Deliveries Expected To Be Heavy

Heavy incoming deliveries of parcel post packages are expected to arrive here today and Monday, since persons in other cities mailed off large packages before the embargo went into effect at 12:01 a. m. yesterday, according to Post Office officials.

The embargo, caused by the coal strike and the resultant shortage of fuel for railroads, limits parcel post packages to five pounds.

Parcel post mailing dropped sharply here yesterday, although on Thursday it was estimated that more than 4,000 pieces of parcel post were handled, with between 460 and 475 packages handled during the evening when the mailing windows were kept open as a special service to the public before the embargo went into effect.

Post Office officials said that the embargo on parcels applies to servicemen stationed in this country, with only packages addressed to those in uniform overseas being exempt.

A WORLD WITHOUT WAR!

Throughout history man has looked upon this world as his own possession. When the peoples of any one country became prosperous, ultimately they were attacked by neighbor nations.

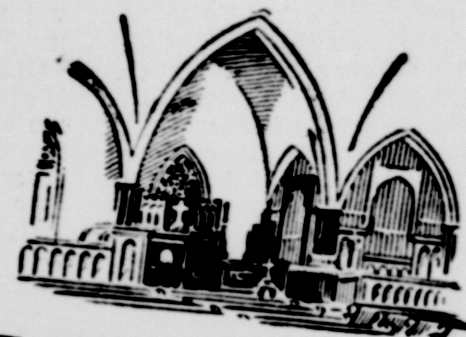

Ancient and medieval history records many acts of aggressor nations. In modern times great powers have conquered and ravaged neighbor states in their attempt at world dominance.

There have been many apostles of peace, but in every generation the advocates of rule through force of arms have dominated. War with all of its injustices and horrors, has been the ultimate arbiter.

Even today, the great nations are spending more in preparation for war than in any previous peace-time period—although it is generally conceded another war would blot out our civilization.

But there is a concept of living that could and would eliminate war, and hatred, and injustice, and selfishness. It is the doctrine of peace, and love, and tolerance, and brotherhood as taught by Jesus Christ.

Faith in God and the practical application of Christian living by individuals and nations is the one hope for world peace and individual success and happiness.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

European Champ Decisions Abrams In Garden Fight

Marcel Cerdan, Of France, Gets Nod After Bloody 10-Round Battle

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, the European middleweight champion, made his American bow a successful one tonight by punching out a close decision over George Abrams in a bloody, rip-snorting ten-round brawl in Madison Square Garden. Cerdan weighed 159; Abrams 160.

The rugged ex-French sailor, winner of the Inter-Allied Mediterranean Service Championship for two years during the war, had to put on a wild, slugging finish to win out by a narrow point margin only after the Washington Wall-topper, catching up from a slow start, took command through the middle heats.

The decision was greeted with mingled boos and cheers by the near sell-out crowd when it was announced.

Referee Ruby Goldstein gave it to Cerdan by 6 rounds to 2, with two even, but both judges called it 5 rounds apiece. Judge Marty Monroe made it 7 points to 5 for Cerdan and Judge Frank Forbes called it 9 points to 6 for the Casablanca Clouter. The Associated Press score card balloted for Cerdan, 5 rounds to 4, with one even.

It was a blood-and-thunder belting party from start to finish, with both fighting for a title shot at the winner of the middleweight championship brawl between Titleholder Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano next March.

Blood spilled from cuts of both before seven rounds were over, as Marcel fired three left hooks in the second heat to break open George's right eye, and George came back with a ripping right that tore a gash alongside Cerdan's left eye in the seventh.

Time after time they stood toe to toe and banged away for half-a-minute or more.

The 32-year-old Frenchman, who has never lost a fight on points or by a knockout in 97 starts—his only setbacks were two via the foul route—came very close to doing the same again tonight. After he had been warned earlier, he had the fourth round taken away from him by Referee Goldstein for low blows. Thereafter, he tried to keep his punches a little higher up.

Gettel, Mack, Galan And Heusser Traded

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 6 (AP)—The New York Yankees announced today they had traded Pitchers Al Gettel and Gene Reardon, and Outfielder Hal Peck to the Cleveland Indians for Second Baseman Ray Mack and Catcher Sherman Lollar in the biggest deal disclosed so far.

Cleveland sold Infielder "Dutch" Meyer to Newark, the Boston Braves sold Right-hander Bill Posedel to Seattle and the Chicago White Sox sold Mizell (Whitey) Platt, outfielder, to Toledo.

A's To Expand Farms

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6 (AP)—Connie Mack today announced appointment of Arthur Ehlers, former president of the Interstate League, as head of the Philadelphia Athletics farm system which Mack said he plans to expand greatly.

The announcement came from the A's office here after a telephone call from Mack, now attending the joint meeting of the major leagues in Los Angeles.

Western Maryland Deer Kill Nearing 600 Mark

Incomplete Returns Show 542 Slain In Three Counties; Tucker's 5-Day Total Is 522

Western Maryland's deer kill is expected to approach the 600 mark for six-day season which closes today at sundown.

With complete reports from seven of the nine checking stations in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties available late last night and incomplete reports from the stations at Deep Creek Lake and Swanton the total for the first five days hit 542.

The totals are as follows:

Garrett County: Oakland, 182, five days; Grantville, 102, five days; Friendsville, 39, five days; Deep Creek Lake, 75, first four days; Swanton, 32, first two days.

Allegany County: LaVale, 10, five days; Oldtown, 26, five days; Green Ridge, 32, five days; Regional Warden Mink, 2, five days.

Washington County: Hancock, 39, five days, includes one checked in Allegany county.

In addition to the 430 deer killed in Garrett and checked in that county, added 13 bucks that were slain in Garrett but checked in Allegany, boosting the unofficial total for the far western county to 443 with reports of four days missing from two stations.

70 Killed In Allegany

Allegany's four-day total rose to 70 yesterday. This is 22 above the all-time six-day mark of 48. Washington county's total of 29 is ten below the record while Garrett's present 443 is 129 above the record of 314.

Worcester and Cecil counties also have an open season on deer and when reports from there are tabulated the Maryland total may exceed the 600 mark.

Tucker county, W. Va., enjoying its greatest season of the sport, yesterday announced that 522 bucks had been killed in five days. The previous record was 280, established in six days last year.

George Williams, of the West Virginia Conservation Commission, yesterday spoke a rumor to the effect that does would be legal today, the final day of the West Virginia deer season. "This report is untrue and only male deer may be killed on the final day," Williams declared.

Joseph A. Minke, regional warden for the counties of Washington, Garrett and Allegany, last night said that two illegal kills have been reported and two does killed in Allegany since the season began. Three does were killed in Washington county. He indicated that illegal kills in Garrett may approach the 30 mark.

Small Game Legal Monday

The small game hunting season will be resumed at sunrise Monday and will continue through December 31.

Only five bucks were killed in Allegany county yesterday. Twenty-one were slain Monday, 16 Tuesday, 17 Wednesday and 11 Thursday. Reports were received yesterday from the following stations:

Glass Bowl Game Is Set For Today At Toledo, Ohio

Bates Collene Of Maine To Play Toledo U.; 14,000 To Attend

By DON STULL
TOLEDO, O., Dec. 6 (AP)—The lid comes off the nation's football bowl business tomorrow as the Bates College Bobcats and the Toledo University Rockets meet in the first presentation of an annually-planned extravaganza known as the Glass Bowl.

The first of some two dozen such post-season encounters scheduled across the nation between Pearl Harbor Day and the dawn of the New Year, the Glass Bowl—deriving its name from the assisting sponsorship of Toledo's three major glass companies—appeared certain to draw a capacity crowd of 14,000, even though there was scarcely any way of judging what kind of a grid contest it might produce.

The visiting Bobcats, coached by Yale's old mentor, Raymond (Ducky) Foad, carry the most impressive record into the tilt—seven straight victories, the school's first perfect season in 48 years of football.

The host Rockets lost two and tied two in a nine-game campaign, but that inferior record was not expected to make the hometown underdogs as there was no common ground for comparing the ability of the Maine State Champs with the Ohio team.

The only barometer in the weights, the Rockets holding an advantage averaging 15 pounds per man. The Rockets' team averages 201 pounds, Bates 186.

Networks Return To Regular Events For Saturdays

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, Dec. 6—With the Saturday football broadcast season more or less over, except for maybe an extra post-season game, networks are putting their Saturday afternoon schedules back into their normal status. In doing so, regular features are coming back, as well as some seasonal returns.

In that category is Orchestras of the Nation, an hour on NBC at 3, which is coming back for its fourth season. In the next 26 weeks, it will present 18 orchestras from as many cities, starting with the Rochester Philharmonic as directed by Guy Fraser Harrison.

Another NBC program veteran to come back is the Doctor dramas, heard for the last 13 years. Scheduled for 4, this series is titled "Doctors Then and Now."

MBS also has a revival, the Pro Arte quartet, which will have a new concert series at 2. Later in the day on NBC at 9:30, Can You Top This, the gag quiz owned and "operated" by "Sen. Ed Ford, one of the board of gag experts, will get under way for its seventh season.

Opera billed from the Metropolitan stage by ABC at 2 to be "Boris Godunoff," the cast to include Clarence Turner, California mezzo-soprano.

The next day being Bible Sunday, each network will have a special speaker under this schedule: MBS 2:30 Dr. E. T. DeHober, president of Northern Baptist Convention; CBS 3:30 Alfred M. Landon; NBC 6:30 Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker; ABC 10:45 Bishop Angus Dun of the Washington Cathedral.

Jury To Get Reid Case Sometime This Morning

Former Cumberland Army Officer Denies Raping Helen Mongold; Case Reopens At 9:15 A. M.

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 6 — The case against Frank Sam Reid, 25-year-old ex-Army officer, 300 block Greene street, being tried in Washington County Circuit Court on charges of raping Miss Helen Mongold, 28, employee of a Cumberland, Md., laundry, is expected to be presented to the jury this morning following concluding argument by counsel for the defense and the state.

During the night session, which opened at 6:45 o'clock, Reid testified he never touched alcohol, befuddled, entering the army, but said he and Miss Mongold stopped at a half-dozen taverns in Cumberland and Hagerstown on the night of June 26.

Police authorities told the jury that Reid said he tried to have intercourse with Miss Mongold that night but was unsuccessful.

Miss Mongold On Stand

Miss Mongold took the stand during the day to testify that Reid raped and beat her on the night of June 26 in Washington County as they were returning to their homes in Cumberland June 27 after a trip to Hagerstown in Reid's automobile. She said she had known the defendant most of her life but had not seen him in 10 years. On June 26, she testified, they met in Cumberland and she accepted an invitation to take a ride with him, a ride that ended in Hagerstown about 10 o'clock that night.

Another prosecution witness, Mrs. Steven Sandeles, told the jury that Reid and Miss Mongold stopped at a tourist cabin at a camp operated by her husband on Fairview Mountain shortly before 7 a. m. on June 27 and that Reid left the place about 10 a. m.

Mrs. Sandeles testified that when she entered the cabin to clean it shortly afterwards, she found Miss Mongold, nude except for a brassiere, lying on the bed. She was covered with blood.

She said she also noted bloody clothing in the room.

Police were notified and Miss Mongold was taken to the Washington County Hospital. Reid was arrested on his return to the cabin.

Says Face Bruised

Dr. Perry P. Prather, who examined the Cumberland woman, testified there were bruises on her face and thighs and that there was a cut on her forehead.

Washington County Sheriff John B. Huvel said that Reid, described by his attorney in court today as a graduate of the University of Maryland, made a statement following his arrest to the effect that he and Miss Mongold had been beaten up by three or four men who were enroute back to Cumberland.

Reid testified that when they reached Hagerstown, "both of us were feeling extremely good, and she put her arm around me while we were walking down the street" after leaving another tavern.

He said they parked and talked about marriage and Reid said he had been married once but it was a "war marriage" and didn't last.

Reid testified they got in the back seat of the car and he opened another bottle of whisky. Later, Miss Mongold got out of the car and refused to return and they argued, and Reid said he slapped Miss Mongold and her dress was torn during a scuffle.

Retired Cabin

He said they decided to rent a cabin and registered as man and wife under a fictitious name. Reid said he left to search for Miss Mongold's shoes and pocketbook which had been lost when they parked the car, and when he returned the sheriff was in the cabin.

Dr. B. Norment, who said he examined Reid and Miss Mongold at the time, Norment said he did not think there had been relations between the two.

The court adjourned at 11 p. m. In the arguments of the defense last night it was pointed out that Reid's character was above reproach before he met Miss Mongold and that he is now studying in the University of Maryland.

The jury was locked in the Hamilton Hotel until the case is resumed at 9:15 a. m. today.

Probe Of Fatal Accident Continues

The investigation of an automobile accident which resulted in the deaths of two tri-townsmen early Thursday morning will be continued today, Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, said last night.

His charges have been filed, pending completion of the investigation, adding that several more witnesses are to be questioned. State Police reported that the deaths of the two men, Robert L. Dancer, 27, and James T. Hughes, 22, brings the total of highway deaths in Allegany County in 1946 to 19 persons.

Today Is Anniversary Of Pearl Harbor

Five years ago today, a slogan which was sounded round the world was borne, "Remember Pearl Harbor."

On December 7, 1941, the Japanese pulled their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, and the United States, within a matter of hours, was plunged into the worst and most destructive war in the history of mankind. While fighting has ceased and people talk about "post-war era," the war actually has not been officially ended.

There is no observance of Pearl Harbor planned anywhere in this city or area today, but it will be remembered by some 12,000 veterans in this county alone whose lives were altered by the course of war, as well as by other thousands of civilians who too know the cost of war.

104 Veterans Reply To Survey On Housing Needs

Committee Proceeds With Plans To Build 25 New Homes Here

In the Times-News survey of veterans' housing needs in the Cumberland area, 104 replies were received. P. Allan Weatherholt, vice chairman of the Veterans-Housing Committee, told the group at a meeting in Peoples Bank last night.

Of this number, replying to requests for information, 63 veterans indicated they do not own lots but want to buy or build houses. Forty-one indicated they already own or are buying lots and want to build.

The survey further shows, Weatherholt explained, that 47 of the total indicated they could pay up to $40 per month on the purchase of their own home; 20 can pay $35; five can pay $30 and six want a house for $25 per month. In the higher payment brackets, 12 can pay $45; 12 can pay $50; one is willing to pay $65 while another said he "can pay cash for anything with a roof over it."

It was also indicated by the letters, telephone calls and coupons received by the Times-News that 53 veterans prefer a five-room house; 38 want six rooms and 13 will be satisfied with four rooms. One veteran indicated he would like to have a place to keep a car and a truck with a "garage apartment of four rooms" on the upper floor. Two said they wanted porches. Practically all specified "bungalow" or "one-story" type.

This information was discussed with considerable interest by the committee, which was formed here in an effort to get some housing built to relieve the local housing shortage. It bore out, quite conclusively, previous estimates that most veterans locally can pay little more than $40 per month toward the purchase of homes, and about 30 per cent want homes for $35 a month or less.

Will Design House

William B. Orndorff, chairman of the housing group, presided at the meeting which was attended by representatives of the city council, veterans organizations, real estate dealers, legal profession, banks, business men and builders.

Russ Minter was asked to proceed with a design for a house that can be built in a bracket within the purchase range of most veterans.

John T. Fey, member of the legal committee, was asked to check in to some tracts of real estate recommended by the site committee which includes James Becham, Weatherholt and Minter.

City Commissioner William Keegan praised the progress being made by the local group and urged them to proceed with plans for building houses as quickly as possible.

Harold R. Fletcher, president of Peoples Bank, outlined to several newcomers at the meeting the purpose of the local committee and how it originated. He explained it is designed primarily and solely to determine ways and means of building sound homes for veterans, with a price they can afford, as quickly as possible. He explained that the group is working with a civic spirit, unselfishly without any idea of promoting anybody's last, favoring any bank or dealer, or anything of a selfish nature. He said "Cumberland is being watched by many communities in our effort to break the housing shortage."

Considerable time was spent discussing types of construction, shortcuts in building which would reduce costs, locations etc.

Experiences Cited

Several members of the Amvets housing committee were present and exhibited letters and told of incidents regarding the inability to get materials with which to build. One veteran had letters from a number of local building supply dealers stating they could not furnish him with various items he needed in construction of his home.

This veteran said he had a priority, which "war" completely ignored. He declared he has finished his house for 30 per cent less than he anticipated, but bought practically everything he used "outside of Cumberland."

The committee last night agreed that if local building supply houses and local contractors and builders cannot build 25 houses here at a price the veteran can afford, which may be necessary to go elsewhere for contractors as well as materials.

It was indicated at the meeting that the "war" completely ignored their plans for 25 houses, on one of several sites under consideration. As soon as these are underway, it is hoped that a second unit of 25 can be started.

The committee will meet again next Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Peoples Bank and anyone interested is welcome to attend, Orndorff said.

Former Frostburg Man Held In Jail

A man identified as George Leeger, about 40, Baltimore, was returned to Cumberland last night from Baltimore, by State Police on a warrant sworn out by an unidentified Frostburg person, and is being held in the city jail.

City officials said the man is connected with "some type of false pretense in obtaining gas and oil on credit cards." Leeger is a former Frostburg man, police said.

The little tots in the lower picture are taking no chances of being caught in the last-minute rush; they already have presents for mother, dad, brother and sister, but "no telling" 'til Christmas morning.

Keegan Reports Various Traffic, Parking Changes

Various changes in traffic and parking regulations, designed to decrease congestion in downtown Cumberland, were announced yesterday by Police Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The bus stop for Potomac Edison buses serving South Cumberland will be moved down Baltimore street from in front of Burton's store to a point near the S. T. Little Jewelry Company store.

Keegan explained that this will help to relieve traffic and pedestrian congestion in front of Burton's, pointing out that previously the South Cumberland buses, as well as the Bedford Road, Shriver Avenue, Mapleside, State Line, Bowman's Addition and Baltimore Avenue buses lined the curb near Burton's during rush hours. The latter group of buses will continue using their present stop.

Parking To Be Prevented

Red lines to prevent parking will be painted on curbs on both sides of Central avenue from 35 to 40 feet from the intersection with Maryland avenue, and 20 feet on each side of Maryland avenue near the intersection of this street with travel of heavy traffic on Central avenue near the intersection, Keegan said.

The Potomac Edison and Mt. Savage Bus Lines stop on North Centre street will be moved a short distance up the street to a point in front of Burton's store to permit two buses at a time to use the bus stop.

Following a two months' survey, parking has been eliminated on one side of Park street between Harrison and Union streets, Keegan said.

Changes in bus stops and other traffic regulations were decided upon at a conference in Keegan's office yesterday, attended by John F. Rodman, Jr., district operating manager of the Potomac Edison Company; Arthur M. Bittner, the company's supervisor of city transportation; Detective Edwin R. Lilya of the Cumberland Police Department; and B. F. Gaffney, acting chief of police.

Commends School Patrols

In announcing the changes, Keegan praised the school patrols for their co-operation with the Police Department in helping to prevent accidents near schools. He said he believes that in the approximately 10 years that the organization has been operating, there has never been an accident in front of a city school.

Keegan said the program is valuable for the public and civic pride it gives school children, and praised the State Police for their aid in giving lectures in the schools on traffic safety.

Regarding the announcement that Cumberland will participate in the annual traffic safety contest sponsored by the National Safety Council, Keegan commented that the accident chart at Police Headquarters provides a record of the number of accidents at any given location, so that steps can be taken to find the cause and to avoid future mishaps.

Luke Paper Mill To Close If Coal Strike Continues

More than 1,800 workers of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke, are threatened with unemployment if the national coal strike continues "much longer."

Albert M. Kaiser, plant manager said yesterday.

Two grave threats are added to the possible coal shortage, Kaiser said. One is the general embargo on rail freight and the second is the possibility that the present shortage of basic chemicals used may become more acute.

Railroad To Furlough Officials of the Western Maryland

Railway also announced that at least 300 of the 1,500 workers on the Elkins Division will be furloughed Monday, as a result of curtailed transportation.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad estimated that about 1,000 men were on furlough on the Cumberland Division at the end of the work day yesterday. When the full extent and exact working of the freight and express embargo are learned more men may be furloughed on the division, officials declared.

The Paper plant is now seeking information on how the rail embargo will affect incoming shipments, Kaiser said, adding that since paper and paperboard, both produced at the Luke mill, are essential to publications and health as food containers, it is hoped that the company will be able to continue most shipments by special permit.

The company is continuing to combat the threat of a coal shortage, Kaiser said, by taking every conceivable step short of cutting production to conserve its stock pile.

Trains Curtailed

The Western Maryland Railway also announced further curtailment of passenger service yesterday with one round trip train between Cumberland and Elkins already discontinued and two more trains between Elkins and Durbin, W. Va., to be taken off the schedule next week.

The B. and O. is considering abandoning Keiser as a terminal point for the duration of the coal strike as the road has advertised for trains from Cumberland to Grafton and Cumberland to Fairmont, officials said.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6. (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio announced today it is laying off 1,500 clerical workers—25 per cent of its system-wide force—next Tuesday because of the coal crisis and its contingent rail service embargoes.

About 500 of those to be furloughed work in the Baltimore general offices. The others are in freight and passenger offices throughout the system.

The B. and O. already had furloughed about 6,500 workers. These included about 600 train crewmen. The others were shop and mechanical maintenance workers.
